

17 facts, views and tips on olive oil

Blog post 12.3/13

17. SUMMARY:

It is best to buy your olive oil directly from the olive grower, i.e. from farms that have their own olive trees and their own olive mill. If possible, avoid retail trade. This is admittedly very difficult for German city dwellers to implement. Therefore, buy olive oil in specialised shops. From the individualists.

You can buy it from us.

We purchase our olive oil directly from winegrowers who produce olive oil only in small quantities (e.g. 1800 0.5-litre bottles per season). We work very closely with our producers and carry out our own quality controls. We exchange information with each other, visit the winemaker at harvest time and monitor the olive oil harvest and pressing.

I hope that our small series on facts, views and tips on olive oil has given you pleasure, that you have perhaps heard one or two new things and that we have been able to encourage you to think not only about olive oil but also about the importance of good food. Finally, in the next and last part of the blog, I would like to tell you where my love of olives and olive oil comes from. For this we will travel to the Sea of Marmara in the 60s.
